ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a device for cross-platform and data-specific visualization of 3D data records using visualization software for display on a 2D monitor, the 3D volume data are stored together with visualization software on a data carrier, the data carrier being transmittable to a user for playback on any personal computer.